

Aaron Bailey is a member of the law firm Sloan, Eisenbarth, Glassman, McEntire & Jarboe, LLC, practicing primarily in civil litigation, business and real estate transactions and litigation, and estate planning and probate. Mr. Bailey began his career with Sloan Law Firm as a research clerk in 2009, and accepted a permanent position with the firm in 2011 as an associate attorney. Mr. Bailey was named a member of the firm in 2017.

Before attending law school at Washburn University School of Law, Mr. Bailey earned a Bachelor of Science in Journalism from Northwest Missouri State University. He then worked as a reporter for the St. Joseph News-Press in St. Joseph, Mo., earning the Excellence in Legal Journalism award from the Missouri Bar in 2007.

Mr. Bailey is the current Chair of the Historic Resources Commission in Lawrence, and has served on the commission since 2015.